WANT TO FORM CONSOLIDATED SCHOOL HERE

School Inspector Suggests
This Instead of Forming
New District and Building
New School-A Good Idea.

Some time ago a number of farmers living north of town met and decided to take steps towards forming a new school district in that locality, joining the Redcliff school district on the north.

For a time little progress was made but last week Inspector Gorman paid a visit to the district to talk over the situation with those concerned. After hearing all the arguments and going into the matter fully, Mr. Gorman suggested that the district be formed but that instead of building a school and engaging a teacher, there should be made some arrangements with the Redcliff school board whereby the pupils could be accommodated at the school here for the time being. He further suggested that those interested should try to make some arrangements for the transportation of the children to and from school and that for the present the district be served on the system used in districts where consolidated schools are in operation.

We understand that it is the intention of the men interested to arrange a meeting with the Redcliff school board with the object of arriving at some definite conclusion.

The Review is of the opinion that there is no better solution of the matter than that suggested by Mr. Gorman. Although consolidated schools are only in their infancy so far as this province is concerned yet they have proved such a success in other places where they have been tried that we are convinced it will only be a matter of a very short time till they will be established in different sections throughout this province. Taking the case now would be a good time to make a start in this direction, and we are convinced that this experiment would prove so successful that it would not be long until all the schools in the surrounding districts would be anxious to make Redcliff the center for one big consolidated school for the whole district.

The new district will be called Harvest Vale school district.

Red Cross Get $28.50 From Empress Theatre

As his share of the big Leap Year Day fund for the Red Cross Society, C. Oakland, proprietor of the Empress theatre, offered to give 10 per cent of the proceeds from the picture show last Saturday evening to the society. Needless to say the offer was thankfully accepted by the executive of the society and Mr. Oakland made arrangements for a special attraction on that occasion. The hall was packed to its capacity for the occasion and as a result the society was handed $28.50 as their share of the proceeds. The musician also donated her fee for the evening and the Review furnished the printing.

Volunteer Fire Brigade Elect New Officers

The volunteer fire brigade held its regular meeting last Monday evening in the fire hall. There was a small turnout of members. The only business taken up was the approving of the officers selected by the committee. These were as follows:
Fire Chief—P. O'Fallon.
Captain—W. Kent.
Secretary—A. Leppach.
It was also decided to hold the regular meeting on the first Monday of each month.

Britain Must Keep Men After the War

Andrew Bonar Law, secretary for the colonies, speaking at the London school of economics, discussed the problems that will arise after the war, referring particularly to agriculture. He declared that it was necessary for England to adopt a broad program of agricultural development to prevent a great number of men emigrating to the colonies.

Red Cross Concert Was Great Success

The concert given last Tuesday evening in the Empress theatre under the auspices of the Red Cross Society drew a well filled house, and all appeared to be well pleased with the program which was put on by entirely local talent.

Promptly at the hour appointed Mayor Holt, who acted as chairman, started the program with a few remarks. He reviewed the work of the Red Cross Society since its origin and pointed out its great value, especially at such times as these. He also greatly praised the untiring efforts put forth by the women of all nations in this respect and said they should get the hearty support of the general public in all their undertakings. He congratulated the people of Redcliff for the liberal manner in which they had supported this cause in the past, and for the way they had turned out on this occasion.

The children of grade three started the musical part with a chorus in which the national anthems of Britain and her allies were sung in a very creditable manner, after which the boys of the same grade sang "Johnny Canoe's the Boy." The balance of the program was made up of solo, duet, and chorus songs, choruses, and readings which were well rendered and enthusiastically received by the audience.

During the evening W. A. Hayes was called on by the chairman to address the gathering. He spoke in feeling of the work of the Red Cross Society and also of the heroic efforts put forth by the young men from Canada who are fighting bravely in the United States and who he referred to his recent trip east in which he visited hospitals and saw the fighting in the trenches. He said that his observations had shown him that the people to the south were heartily in sympathy with Britain and her allies in their present struggle. O'Fallon's orchestra was also present and rendered several selections which added to the success of the program.

Very small the admission fee was, very small the proceeds from the entertainment amounted to almost $500.

The committee who undertook the getting up of the program wish to express their thanks to all who so willingly assisted in making the evening a success.

Some Timely Advice To Potato Growers

A bulletin issued by the Dominion experimental farm says: "Late blight and potato rot caused considerable damage last season to the potato crop in this locality. The Dominion section of the continent of America, in many instances the loss amounted to 25 per cent of the total crop, and in some cases the loss was even greater. In consequence, farmers were induced to plant their potatoes were readily this winter owing to the high price paid for this commodity for domestic use. This, it is probable, will result in the scarcity of superior seed, since the general practice is for farmers to use for that purpose the remainder of their potatoes in storage towards spring. Seeing that the crop was much diseased at the commencement of the season and with all or most marketable potatoes sold for less than the quality on hand for seed, it is probable that the quality of the seed will be very inferior, when the time for planting comes. We would, therefore, urge farmers to immediately reserve for seed the best quality of seed, and to keep the quantity, and a little more to make allowance for further losses through rot, required for seed purposes."

Turkey and Bulgaria Now Want Peace

It is stated that both the Turks and Bulgarians are asking for an understanding with the Entente. The only thing they request is that they may be permitted to retain their existing frontiers and integrity. The Turks, perceiving the danger to Asia-Minor from the Russian advance, do not desire their existence, nor do they expect any decisive help from Germany.

The highest Bulgarian officials are greatly in fear of the extension of the existing frontier, and do not like the fact that, though they may be at Monastir and in Albania, their capital runs the risk of falling into enemy hands.

THE WAR AREA IN NEAR EAST

The main body of Grand Duke Nicholas' army in near Erzerum (1) which has just been captured from the Turks in northern Persia is a second Russian force with its base at Tabriz (2) while a third army is fighting Persians and Turks near Kermanshah (3). A British force is besieged at Kut-el-Amara (4) while a new force is held up a few miles below by roads.

Quiet Session of The Town Council Redcliff Raises $200 For Leap Year Fund

The regular meeting of the town council held last Monday evening was one of the shortest and quietest held for some time. In the absence of Mayor Holt Deputy Mayor Ireland took the chair. All the councillors except Mr. Devitt were present. The water committee reported that the pumping station had recommended the purchase of a large driving belt to replace the one damaged during the flood. On motion duly made the action of the committee was approved by the council. This led to a further discussion of the power plant in which the engineer informed the council he had been in communication with Medicine Hat officials in regard to purchasing an emergency engine as instructed at the last meeting. He found they were not available to use as an emergency engine, as instructed at the last meeting. He found they had several engines on hand which would be suitable to use as an emergency engine here. The council was unanimous in the opinion that such an engine should be purchased as soon as possible in place of the one now being held in an awkward position in the event of an accident. The matter was left in abeyance pending further inquiries but in the meantime Mr. Crouch has offered to keep his traction engine in addition to use if needed.

Grain Buyer Here Has a Complaint

The buyers at the grain elevator here are complaining of not getting a square deal in the grading of grain and as a result for the last few days the elevator and the farmers are being cold-shouldered to a finish. In some cases returns for test are sent back grading a No. 3, with the remark "too full for inspection." While another case of the same kind with 400 pounds more in it have been graded and the grade is given as No. 2.

Another complaint is that some samples are decked four per cent for containing barley. In this case the elevator claims the sample was taken and accurately tested, when it was found that there was considerably less than one per cent barley in it. If this is the case there is something radically wrong with our system of inspection which must materially work out to the disadvantage and loss of the farmer.

Saskatchewan Now Has Political Scandal

Saskatchewan is now coming into the line-light as having a legislature which is not immune from the breath of scandal.

Already it has been shown that a warlike act was paid out for mythical road contracts and E. H. Devlin, Liberal member for Kinistone, is blamed as the one who pulled off the deal. A warlike act was paid out for mythical road contracts and E. H. Devlin, Liberal member for Kinistone, is blamed as the one who pulled off the deal.

It is also charged that Liberal members were bribed to vote against the "banish the bar bill" in 1915.

German newspapers received at Zurich admit that heavy losses are being sustained in the Verdun offensive and were the public against extravagant hopes. The Frankfurter Zeitung declares that the German regiments are "fighting in a sea of fire."

Men's Club Holds Farewell Smoker

Last night a smoker was held in the Men's Club room in honor of E. Pool, who is about to depart for life in Newfoundland and take into himself a wife. A splendid program was given for the occasion and rendered in a manner well fitting the occasion. J. Robinson was, as usual, on hand with another of his splendid recitations, which he knows so well how to render. Songs were given by several club members. A. C. Wade addressed the guest on behalf of the club and thanked him for past services to the organization and for the efficient manner he had carried out his duties as a committee man. J. Gibbs, on behalf of the club in general, offered Mr. Pool the good wishes of the membership in his new venture and stated how sorry the club was to lose his valued services. After Mr. Pool had made a reply stating his many pleasant memories of his time spent in Redcliff and his sincere appreciation of the presentation to the club of a splendid pennant inscribed to Redcliff, Alberta, and showing the provincial coat of arms. The members then joined hands and sang "Auld Lang Syne," and after the national anthem was sung the members dispersed, wishing Mr. Pool good speed and a happy life in his new home.

Lloyd George Has Faith in the Future

In a recent interview Mr. Lloyd George has once again given a glimpse of his undying faith in the future and progress of the Empire. In the interview he says:

"The allies are engaged in a mighty effort to dig the grave of that wicked lie that 'might is right', and mark you, that shall not cease to strive to overcome until we have dug the grave deep and wide, and can safely abandon our united lot in the conviction that we have insured before all possible doubt against its recurrence. 'Britain is rapidly nearing the completion of the preparations necessary to put her whole weight into the war, and Germany will feel it in a short time. Before the war Britain had the greatest fleet and best equipped navy in the world, and now she has one of the greatest armies which would soon be about the best equipped in the world. Though speaking of this achievement in evident pride, Mr. Lloyd George added, 'But that is not all. A new Britain is now being developed, and the new Britain will be in a position to be imperishable in this war of exhaustion, in future this country will be able to take the place of the world that constitutes real and true wealth.'"

Woman's Franchise Bill is Introduced

The bills to enact prohibition and to confer the franchise on women were introduced in the legislature by the premier last Friday and given a first reading. As the bills will not be opposed they will be hurried to the final stages immediately after the debate on the speech from the throne is concluded and be among the first ready for royal assent.

Minister Defeated in B.C. Ay-election

Two by-elections were held in British Columbia last Saturday when two new cabinet ministers went to the country for the first time. In the election of Mr. C. E. Tisdall, the new minister of public works, was defeated in Vancouver by M. A. McDonald by over 4,000 votes. Hon. L. Campbell, minister of mines, was out by the narrow margin of nine votes. Another by-election will be held next Saturday when Hon. M. F. Stuness will be the government candidate in Victoria. H. G. Brewster will be the Liberal candidate.

Day Ontario Government's Aim

The feature of the session of the Ontario legislature will be the action of the government on prohibition. A dry Ontario is the aim of the Ontario government, and the Ontario government is determined to achieve this aim. The Ontario government is determined to achieve this aim. The Ontario government is determined to achieve this aim.

United States House Military Committee Voted for a Regular Standing Army of 137,000 Men

The United States House military committee voted for a regular standing army of 137,000 men, with a two per cent increase for recruiting, reducing the number up to 140,000, which is slightly more than the war department had asked for.

FIERCER FIGHT NOW RAGING NEAR VERDUN

In Bloodiest Battle of War
French Break up German
Preparations and Drive
Them From Trenches

During the past few days one of the fiercest battles of the war has been raging around Verdun in France. First reports indicated that the Germans were putting up a stubborn fight and were making some gains but later reports showed that with the assistance of the activity of the confounding force to the north of Verdun, the French in the Woerthe region, east of Verdun, are using their artillery to break up German preparations for further advances toward the fortress. At various points the fire of the French guns has prevented the Germans from launching offensives.

In the vicinity of Verdun there has also been great artillery activity by the French near Senones and Ban de Supte, and the fire of the French guns were driven out of trenches they had previously taken. In the Champagne German fortified works in the vicinity of Hill 195 have been destroyed by the French guns and the crater of a mine exploded by the Germans, was occupied by the French.

What The Farmers Owe The Merchants

W. H. Andrew, of the Retail Merchants' Association, recently wrote a letter to the directors of the U. F. A. in which he pointed out that at the present time the farmers of this province owe the merchants some $50,000,000, some of which has been outstanding for four years. The merchants have advanced the farmers about over $12,000,000 out of the province western catalogue houses. The writer goes on to show that this enormous drain on the circulation of money which is right being at this province is a very serious handicap to the progress of commerce in our own territory, and if this drain has not been in circulation here the whole financial situation would have been tremendously improved and the merchants would have been better able to carry the farmers through times of stress. In replying to the letter with the title "What the Farmers Owe the Merchants," U. F. A. blames this condition of affairs on the banking system which, he says, is not intended to supply the needs of the farmers who are forced to seek credit elsewhere. The banking system may have come to the aid of the farmers by getting credit from the merchants, but we cannot see how it has anything to do with them seeing that $12,000,000 out of the province and passing up the merchants who extended the line of credit.

CONSERVE THE WATER

Quite frequently there comes to this office circulars from what is known as the "conservation commission." The business of this commission is to devise ways and means for the conservation of our natural resources and in the past they have done some very good work along these lines.

There is one matter which has been brought to our attention lately which has evidently escaped the notice of the commission, and one which is of great importance to the farmers of this district. That is the conservation of water.

At this season of the year and at various times throughout the spring and summer, nature deals very liberally with us in regard to water, but, owing to the lay of the land, this water finds its way down through the ravines and coulees to the river and runs away as quickly as it comes. Consequently we do not derive the benefit from it that we should.

In talking over the matter it just occurred to us that a conservation commission might unearth some scheme whereby this water could be conserved and utilized, for the benefit of both man and beast.

Since our farmers are being strongly advised to go in for mixed farming, and since water is one of the essentials for making this branch of their work a success, it seems too bad that it is allowed to run away in this manner. Surely it could be dammed up in the coulees and in this way be conserved for use in the dry season.

A HEALTHY SIGN

The result of the last general provincial election in Manitoba, the defeat of a cabinet minister in a by-election in British Columbia, the defeat of a government candidate in Ontario and the attitude of the electors of Saskatchewan regarding the graft charges made against members of the legislature in that province, all furnish proof of a healthy revival in things political.

In each of the above cases the electors acted as they did because they was a suspicion that the man against whom they voted were not acting squarely.

It has often been said that our politics are rotten but we have always been of the opinion that if such is the case, the people themselves—even the ones who make such statements—are wholly to blame, not because they are the cause of it, but because by their votes they condone it.

Their actions in the past few months, however, show that the electors are waking up to this fact and the result is bound to have a cleansing effect on the political atmosphere.

After summing up the movements in the different provinces in Canada along prohibition lines the Calgary Alberta says: "The people of Alberta made history in Canada when in July last they passed the prohibition act so desirably."

While the motion in the federal house on Dominion votes for women was declared "lost on division"—which means that the members were not anxious to vote in public—both parties in the Alberta legislature were putting through women's suffrage for Alberta without a dissenting voice. That's just the difference between east and west.

MAY BE THE TURNING POINT

The terrible battle which has been raging in the Verdun district for the past week may be one of the most important of the whole war, and the fact that the Hun are putting up such a stubborn fight with such a tremendous sacrifice of life lends color to this belief. The outcome of this battle will no doubt have much to do with the final outcome of the whole struggle. If the enemy should be successful they would be in a direct line for Paris and they would have attained this position through their own country. On the other hand their complete defeat at this point, where they seem to have concentrated all their energy and force, would be a blow from which they could never recover. At the present time there seems to be no unreason either in Paris or London as to the ultimate outcome.

Occasionally we hear some complaints about the irregularity with which the collecting of garbage is done and we have taken the trouble to do a little investigating. As is often the case the ones who are doing the most complaining are the very ones who a few short months ago thought the town didn't need a scavenger at all. We further found that in many cases the fault was with the people themselves. When throwing their garbage out they scattered it all over the back yard, then expected the scavenger to rake it up every trip. This would be impossible and we do not think the council expects the men to do this. If the town supplies the team and the force for removing the garbage, the property owners might, if they are as interested in the appearance of their places as they would have us think, keep it in such condition as to be easily handled.

We had intended this week to draw to the attention of the children through their parents, the very bad habit that some of them are forming of making themselves a regular nuisance at all public meetings, but the certain lecture given by Mayor Holt at the concert last Tuesday evening should answer the purpose. We trust it will not be necessary for us to refer to it again.

A COCKNEY QUEEN

Queen of Norway Born in Sound of Bow Bells—Practical Joke

Queen Maud of Norway was an Irish girl, born within the sound of Bow bells, and was King Edward's third and favorite daughter. It was she who first nicknamed her brother, the late Duke of Clarence, "Cockney and Cuffs," and her eldest sister the Princess Royal, "her Royal Snyzers," on account of that retiring lady's almost morbid dislike of appearing in public. And it was Queen Maud who collected all the quoted sayings and doings of the Royal Family in a scrapbook, and labelled it, "Things We Never Said or Did." Once when Queen Maud was with her sisters she noticed a cartoon programme ending at their every movement. Accordingly she wrote something on a piece of paper, and making a pretence of handing it to one of her sisters, dropped it. The reporter, in great glee, picked it up expecting to get a scoop for his paper. But instead he found written on it the very feminine sentence: "My new boots pinch me horridly!"

Blackheads Fly Away

A practically instantaneous remedy for blackheads, greasy skin, and enlarged pores, recently discovered, is now coming into general use in the bazaar. It is a very simple, harmless, and pleasant. Drop a styroly tablet, contained at the entrance, in a number of hot water. After an effervescence has subsided, bathe the face in the liquid, using a small sponge or soft cloth. In a few minutes dry the face, and the offensive blackheads will come right off on the towel. Also the large, oily pores immediately close up and efface themselves naturally. The greasiness disappears, and the skin is left smooth, soft and cool. This simple treatment is then repeated a few times, at intervals of four or five days, to ensure the permanence of the result.

DWARF FRUIT TREES

Ideal For Home Gardens of Canada, Says Farm Paper

Perhaps the most important way to increase the permanent productivity of the home garden is by planting dwarf fruit trees. These are small growing forms of the better varieties of apples, pears and other fruits that take up very little room but yield good crops of splendid fruit. The fact that so many trees can be grown in so little space is the chief advantage of these trees, but there are others. One of the most important is the earliness of bearing. Apples and pears on dwarf stocks will fruit two or three years after planting, while the ordinary standard trees require much more time than this. Another is the improvement in quality. It is generally conceded that pears and apples are decidedly better when grown on dwarf trees. Other advantages are the ease of training, spraying and picking, and the ability to have a great variety of fruit in a limited space.

Canadian gardeners need a great awakening on this subject. In England and France are growing dwarf trees and their value is recognized by most gardeners. Here, however, these trees are seldom seen, though they should be universal in our villages and in the suburbs of our cities.—B.C. Farm and Fruit Magazine.

Braved Villa's Wrath

BRAZIL'S NEW BIBLE

New Portuguese Translation Will Check Blasphemy

A new translation of the Bible into Portuguese has just been completed. Brazil, and Portugal, is the country where the larger part of this edition will be sent. Brazil has the greatest of Portuguese-speaking populations.

Aside from its moral values, the Bible is particularly needed in Brazil, it is said, as an aid to preserving the standard forms of language. As a matter of history, no book has exerted an equal influence in lands where English is read and spoken. The phraseology of the King James version is interwoven, through modern literature, its general use on this continent, where new conditions and a strong tendency to slang would make for rapid change, has had a steady effect on our vocabulary. It isn't likely that the classic beauty of the English Bible has been paralleled in Portuguese. But even a respectable rendering of a book which has proved its eternal appeal in every age will help more than one. Brazil is growing rapidly. Every means should be used to preserve its moral and linguistic standards.

Winged Mascots

Tradition has it that a late swallow brings luck to the hostess he favors, and many country people still regard the bird as semi-consecrated, and refuse to allow its empty nest to be interfered with during the winter months. With the spring the birds return to their original avens, and it is a sign of impending misfortune if their nestless last year's swallows. A swallow at sea brings disaster to its train, but a sand swallow is considered a mascot by the surrounding countryside.

Even the humble little hedge-sparrow may be called to share share of authority, for those athletes, the cupen of the room into which it gates hooves.

The jellfish eats by wrapping it self round its food, and absorbing it. Nice churches in England are named in honor of St. David, of Wales.

"We understand there is a number in town who failed to procure their dog tags within the limited time and as a result are being brought up on the carpet. Among them are some of our leading citizens."

"Neither Great Britain nor allies," says the London Times, "have any interest in seeing a war between Germany and the United States. American sympathies are sufficient, and these have been won."

Cream of Onion Soup.
Fourteen small onions, one cup water, three tablespoons finely chopped browned, four cups milk, one and one-quarter teaspoons salt. Slice the onions and put in a buttered pan. Add a very little water, cover, and put into the oven. When the onions are tender, remove the cover and brown. Rub the browned onion through the colander, add the water, and the white sauce, made by adding the hot milk to the butter and slightly browned flour rubbed through the strainer. Smooth white sauce should cook ten minutes in a double boiler before it is added to the onion. Season the soup, salt and serve. This makes one quart.

How the Jelly "Jails"
Just what makes jelly "jail"? It's because of a substance called pectin. This curious substance appears in different quantities in different fruit juices, and that is why some juices are so much harder to make "jelly" than others. There is not so much pectin in them. The white inner skins of oranges and lemons are full of pectin, and that is why jelly and marmalade added to fruit juices makes it jelly quickly. Exactly how pectin acts upon fruit juices to make them set is unknown. But without this substance, jellies would never set.

How's That Blank?
If you sink the right bait, you're in. If it isn't it is adding a lot to that tired fishing you get after your day's work. Best recently made showed that the amount of work done in waiting alone depends upon the height of the sink in relation to the woman. For a woman five feet two inches in height the sink should be twenty-two inches high, and an increase of one inch should be made to this for each two inches to the height of the woman.

USES FOR VINEGAR

When boiling fish add a few drops of vinegar in the water. It makes the fish white and firm.

Add a few drops of vinegar instead of water to the starch paste and a much brighter effect will be obtained with less work.

When cooking a crested or clipped egg, add a few drops of vinegar to the water. This will harden the white and prevent it from running out.

When eggs are scarce a dash of vinegar in a little milk, added to the egg, will be equal to three eggs for cake making.

Dangers of Cat Kissing
It must be a terrifying revelation, to those ladies who kiss their cats, that has been made by Professor Plocci, the Italian chemist. He has found by experiment that when a cat licks its lips it spreads over them a saliva in which there are swarms of minute bacilli not free from danger to human beings. When he inoculated rabbits and guinea-pigs with this noxious substance they died within twenty-four hours, and he has come to the conclusion that it is dangerous for ladies to indulge in the habit of kissing their cats.

Macaroni Pudding
Take two ounces of macaroni, wash it and break it into half-inch lengths. Put a pint of milk, one ounce of sugar and the rest of half a lemon into a saucepan and bring them slowly to the boil. While boiling, remove the peel, drop in the macaroni, and simmer till it is tender, which will take about one hour. A little more milk can be added should it all boil away before the macaroni is cooked. Let it cool. Then beat up an egg and stir it in, pour into a buttered dish and bake for about ten minutes in a slow oven.
